

A free spirit, ruled neither by the bondage of the flesh nor the subversive powers of darkness; acknowledged and reconciled to God by the obedience of death by the faithful witness of Truth; acceptable to God and able to communicate with the God of all things--the Father of all living creatures, the lost friend of all life, the pure one in whom there is no darkness--only purity and light; the God of Eternity, the good ruler of all creations, the origin of life, the wise Father awaiting the obedient children to return home; the keeper of your soul, the destroyer of all darkness, the resurrection of hope, the restorer of your original glory-- the Holy Father God Himself.

Communicating with Him in truth, I am restored to the place of talking once again in the languages of heaven: pure, deep, life flowing; the language of full expression; the words that breathe, that issue forth feeling; the words that live and touch--a communication beyond mortal conception of understanding; words that reach up to the clouds; that cry into eternity; that flow like the stream of life; the pure fire of burning, the total expression.

What plan lies behind a universe spectacular, a creation so starry, so unexplainable by all futile explanations? What crude theory will explain the procreation---and creation of the all creatures so complex and functional? Shall you identify the Creator of such complexity as a base chemical compound with intelligence lower than the thing created? What embryonic deduction could have birthed such brutish conception? The raging ignorance clouds the intellect of the celestial creatures inhabiting a celestial orb in space--foolishly giving to the common elements the incredible power of creating life. We are eternal personalities merely in a metamorphosis of development; upon physical release, we are transferred to another reality in a perfected form of being. The universe is eternal, and the spirits of men are eternal. Behind the massiveness of this creation stands a power no mortal ever dared to conceive. Your journey into time has only begun; life on this planet determines your future destination.

The purpose and doctrine of God's teachings--often thought of as the "mystery of God," is the simple and humble concept that we love one another. In the context of the wisdom of this world, the prognosis for a species capable of such devastation as man would be to promptly terminate the species. Man's environment has chained his mind and narrowed his scope of understanding. Man's conception of truth changes from generation to generation; and it is bound by traditions, customs, and regional locations. Divine truth is sovereign and complete in itself for eternity. Man's scientific technology is won at the price of environmental destruction and spiritual disorientation. Greed, lust, power, and ego are often the drives behind man's technical progress. As the carnal mind begins to compute the beginnings of the infinite pathways to wisdom, it becomes confused and hostile. Parts of truth are available in many doctrines; but without consummation, it is not a whole. A perfect truth can be likened to a six-sided crystal that without all six sides would not be perfect. Focusing on the awe-filled revelation of Jesus gives reflections of the perfection and beauty of a fine crystal. The knowledge of divine truth has the responsibility of ending all rebellion and subjecting yourself by love to God's will. Once God plants the spiritual seed of Truth in an individual, suitable conditions are necessary for the progressive development or growth. The carnal mind, which has not been fully renewed by the Holy Spirit and God's Word, is limited in its acceptance of God's will and ways. This un-renewed mind is the prison of the new creature and is cultivated by our civilization-- causing fears, distortions, fleshly lusts, confusions, prejudices, and preconceived ideas.

The choice rests solely within the confines of your individual will. Therefore, consider the choice well. Reconciliation and communication with the Creator of all things has been provided for by means of a spiritual occurrence that happened several thousand years ago when the Son of God, Jesus, became the sin and disobedience of this entire planet. His work was to reconcile you back to God. How this happened is not as important as that it did happen. Jesus declared the way of truth and the way of life for all of us. He showed the way into another world. Yet the truth has been corroded with hypocrisy, tradition, and ignorance, causing you to stumble. But know that within the center of these cleverly conceived veils of deception, the Truth lies waiting for the bold hand of faith and hope to pick it up. This is the dawn, the first day of your spiritual life.
